Open through December 3, 2022

Hope Gangloff's vibrant and colorful portraits of the natural world are something to be witnessed at Susan Inglett Gallery in Chelsea. She uses her keen eye and bright color palette to craft some of the most beautiful views of her everyday life, including bright rays of sunshine gleaming on Lake George and a rendering of her backyard barn in the rain. Her use of color theory, form, and scale are just some of the way she best portrays the fragmented narrative of her life.
