IN MEMORIAM

SARAH CHARLESWORTH

We deeply regret the sudden passing of Sarah Charlesworth, our co-founder and dear friend whose artwork and design graced BOMB's very first cover and who has been a contributing editor ever since the magazine's founding in 1981. It was Sarah who saw BOMB's potential before anyone else and insisted on it becoming a culture magazine. A visionary and a consummate artist, her friendship and genius will be sorely missed. Our hearts go out to her family, her students and all of her many friends.
