Wilmer Wilson IV's new work was shown at Susan Inglett in New York in February 2019 and the West Collection acquired the largest piece in the exhibition entitled Host (pictured here). Wilson's technique of stapling through found images of community leaders is very powerful. Wilson is a Philadelphia artist who has also won a Pew Fellowship in 2017. Harry Philbrick, founder of Philadelphia Contemporary, wrote this great review of Wilmer's exhibition for the Brooklyn Rail: <https://brooklynrail.org/2019/03/artseen/Wilmer-Wilson-IV-Slim-you-dont-got-the-juice>
